8,000 Police on Guard For K-K Vienna Talks

VIENNA (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev arrived here today for his weekend meeting with President Kennedy and said Russia was striving for better relations with the United States on a basis of "peace and positive co-operation."

Khrushchev stepped off a train from Czechoslovakia and was greeted by Austrian President Adolf Schaerf. The station was packed with uniformed police and 20 plainclothesmen surrounded the Russian leader.

Khrushchev spoke briefly to former Soviet foreign minister Vyacheslav Molotov, who was bitterly denounced and downgraded by Khrushchev four years ago as an enemy of Soviet progress.

Khrushchev said that he realized all East-West problems could not be settled at once.

"But with goodwill much can be achieved even in a short time," he said.

The youthful American president is flying in Saturday morning fresh from his Paris talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

The Austrians arranged the biggest security precautions in their history to safeguard both men. More than 8,000 police, detectives and gendarmes were taking up their posts for the two arrivals and the K-K talks Saturday and Sunday.

Khrushchev's rail trip here from Communist Czechoslovakia involved three major security measures:

1. An Austrian police helicopter hovering low over his special train and in constant radio contact with the ground.

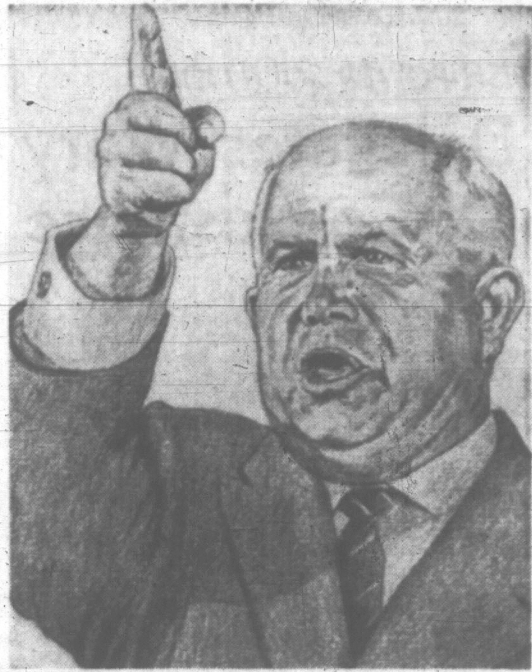

2. A special locomotive, packed with armed security men, running ahead of Khrushchev's train on its 30-mile trip from the frontier village of Marchegg to Vienna's southeast station.

3. Armed police guarding the rail line and posted about 270 yards apart, with the helicopter in constant contact with their command post.

Meanwhile, preparations were almost complete for the face-to-face "get-acquainted" session of the "two Ks."

Many observers said gloomily that little of lasting value would emerge from their 10 hours of talks — actually over five hours if the time for translations is deducted.

STATE OF EMERGENCY IN ZANZIBAR RIOTING

(CP From AP-Reuters)

ZANZIBAR—A state of emergency was proclaimed today on this British East African spice island after election rioting killed nine persons and injured 145 others.

One hundred riot policemen were flown from Kenya on the mainland to break up the fighting and 50 persons were in custody. Another 100 policemen were flown in today.

The situation was reported deteriorating today, with further violence reported.

Coast Loggers Accept Terms

Health Benefits, No Pay Increase Assure Industry of Year's Peace

VANCOUVER (CP)—Representatives of 150 British Columbia coast logging firms and 28,000 woodworkers agreed Thursday on proposed terms for a new contract which would introduce industry-wide health and welfare coverage, but contain no general pay increase.

The proposed one-year agreement would leave the present $1.92 basic hourly wage unchanged except for firemen and engineers, who would receive increases ranging from 4½ to 10 cents an hour.

President Joe Morris of International Woodworkers of America (IWA), described the proposed agreement as "a major breakthrough."

He said the union bargaining committee would recommend that the men accept the proposals in a ballot which will be held at the various coast logging centres between now and June 17.

Representatives of forest industrial relations said they would recommend acceptance to the 150 members companies involved.

The industry-wide health and welfare plan would provide medical service during layoffs, a weekly indemnity and life insurance as well as accidental death and dismemberment insurance, a union statement said.

It would be administered by a board of trustees and premiums would be borne equally by employer and employee.

The proposed agreement also would provide for an extra paid holiday at Easter in logging camps and Boxing Day in manufacturing plants. Employment of casual workers would be confined to weekends and preference would be given to laid-off regular employees.

The proposed health and welfare plan provisions make membership a condition of employment. Coverage for medical services would be provided for a period of up to six months during unemployment, depending on seniority.

The present agreement, negotiated during a 10-week strike two years ago, expires June 14. The strike resulted in a 29-cent increase in the hourly wage over the two-year contract period.

The settlement announcement Thursday came in the early stages of informal conciliation. It was the first time in a decade that agreement had been reached in the industry before conciliation machinery had been exhausted and a strike vote called.

TAGGING ALONG WITH 'JACQUI'

PARIS (UPI)—President Kennedy identified himself today at a press luncheon this way: "I am the person who is accompanying Jacqueline Kennedy to Paris."

The joint statement, issued on the eve of President Kennedy's departure for Vienna and a meeting with Premier Khrushchev, told of a basic agreement between the two Western statesmen.

The U.S. and French leaders issued their communique shortly after they had held their last conference in three days of talks.

"These conversations have shown the basic agreement which exists between the two presidents," said the statement.

BRAIN SURGEONS ACHIEVE 'DOUBLE'

Monkeys Do Two Things at Once

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Biologists at the California Institute of Technology have taught monkeys to do two things at the same time. An animal's left hand literally doesn't know what its right hand is doing.

It's done by cutting the brain in halves, in effect giving a monkey two brains.

Each brain operates independently of the other. The monkey performs even contradictory tasks simultaneously in their small training boxes.

Dr. Roger Sperry, professor of psychology who developed the surgical technique of severing the brain lobes, explained in an interview how the box works:

"The monkey can see out only through a pair of peep holes. His left eye and left brain are taught that if he presses a lever marked with a circle he gets a peanut. If he presses a lever marked with a triangle he gets nothing.

The study so far, Sperry says, suggests that memory, thinking and consciousness may be split and that two distinct personalities may be developed in a double-brain monkey.

Brain splitting would not help humans perform more complicated tasks at the same time, Sperry says, because the human brain is much more complex than a monkey's. One lobe of the human brain always learns more than the other and thus is the dominant lobe. The weaker lobe would not be able to perform comparable tasks.

Missus Kennedy's gittin' a big crowd in Paris with her hairdo, but Khrushchev got a big crowd with hardly any hairdo at all.

'Repressions' Bring Fighting

INGEMAR SICK

'Monopoly' Hit by Tunney

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gene Tunney contended today Ingemar Johansson, the Swedish boxer, "was a sick man" suffering from a brain trauma when he lost to heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in their third bout this year.

Tunney told the senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee "the monopoly" wouldn't stand for an electronic examination which he said would have shown Johansson not physically fit for the bout.

Tunney did not specify whom he meant by "the monopoly."

Tunney, a former holder of the heavyweight crown, recalled the three bouts in which Johansson first won the title from Patterson, then lost in two return matches with the champion.

He said Johansson "had a very serious brain trauma" resulting from his knockout in the second bout.

In New York, Al Bolan, who was general manager of Feature Sports Inc., which promoted the third Johansson-Patterson fight in Miami Beach in March, said Johansson was given a complete physical examination by the Miami Beach boxing commission.

The president said the school would enroll its first class of 15 students in September.

U.S. Studies Possible Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today it has unconfirmed reports of "extreme measures of unwarranted repression" and some fighting in the Dominican Republic.

Press officer Lincoln White declined to give details.

"We are seriously concerned about these reports, but we are awaiting further confirmation," he said.

The repression, he said, is reported to have been directed against anyone who is felt to be not loyal to the regime of the Trujillo group, which has continued in power following Tuesday's assassination of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The U.S. spokesman said there were "no reports of any molestation . . . up to this point" of the 5,200 Americans in the Caribbean land.

But he left open the possibility that U.S. armed forces could move in to protect American lives "should this situation erupt."

TO PAY BIG SHARE

Canada Boosts Help for India

OTTAWA (CP)—The sum of $225,000,000 has been pledged to India for economic development over the next two years by six nations including Canada plus the World Bank.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today of the agreement in which the United States bears the lion's share. The World Bank, the United Kingdom and West Germany are other major contributors, followed by Japan, Canada and France.

The announcement followed a three-day meeting at Washington of a consortium of governments and institutions interested in developing more Indian assistance, Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement.

"These large commitments should enable India to launch her third five-year plan of economic development," he said.

Canada's share is $36,000,000—$28,000,000 in the current fiscal year and the same amount next year. Each allotment would comprise $18,000,000 paid through the Colombo plan and the other $10,000,000 in the form of export credits.

Canada would also provide $7,000,000 worth of wheat, over and above the two-year aid program.

Canada's contribution of $56,000,000 compares with $1,045,000,000 from the U.S., $425,000,000 from Germany, $400,000,000 from the World Bank, $250,000,000 from the U.K., $80,000,000 from Japan and $30,000,000 from France.

The five-year plan, approved in New Delhi today, envisages an annual increase in national income of from 5 to 6 per cent, new industries and free compulsory education between the ages of six and 14.

Hanging Sentence

TORONTO (CP)—Charles Acheson, 25, was found guilty Thursday of murder of his 22-year-old estranged wife, Audrey Jean, on a city street Feb. 17. He was sentenced to be hanged Aug. 29.

FURTHER STEP FOR COLUMBIA

Another small legal step toward the development of Columbia River power was taken today by lifting of Crown reserves on the river's unlicensed waters.

A cabinet order abolishing the reserves clears the way for the B.C. Power Commission to apply for provincial licences to build the three dams which are specified in the Canada-U.S. treaty for development of the mighty hydro power scheme.

Another order passed earlier in the week gave the power commission authority to make its applications, expected about June 15.

Women, Children Murdered

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—The United Nations today began an emergency relief program for thousands of Congolese refugees in Kivu following mass killings by bands of armed soldiers.

A Malayan UN patrol sent to investigate the situation reported finding 33 bodies in a village south of Bukavu.

More than 100 persons, believed to include women and children, have been slaughtered recently. The bodies of five Congolese soldiers also were found.

A large area had been devastated and burned and thousands of members of the Bashi tribe have fled to the mountains, the Malaysians reported.

Cause of the violence in Kivu province, which is nominally controlled by the supporters of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba in Stanleyville, still was not clear. But it was believed here to be a combination of tribal conflicts and indiscipline on the part of the soldiers.

FISH-POWER SOLUTION?

Delegates Wary Of Co-Existence

VANCOUVER—A claim that the problem of producing both fish and power from the same fast-flowing B.C. rivers had been solved was greeted with some reservation and skepticism by delegates to annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada here Thursday.

However, it was brought out in other papers, and in general discussion, that considerable progress had been made in dam, turbine and fish-ladder design research that promised hope for solutions to the problems in the near future.

The most optimistic paper was put forward by Val Gwyther, Vancouver consulting engineer, who stated:

"IN THE PAST"

"The present policy of retardation of power development in a watershed, due to our inability to produce the answer to beneficial fish migration, is in the past, and these watersheds now are open to development of both fish and power."

This view was challenged by several federal fisheries biologists who claimed that while solutions might be near, the belief that fish and power could co-exist right now was erroneous.

MORE RESEARCH

This group looked with more favor on a paper by J. F. Muir and Eugen Ruus of the University of B.C.'s civil engineering department, which proposed that further research be undertaken immediately on the possibilities of developing the Fraser and other British Columbia rivers for multi-use projects.

Muir and Ruus claimed: "Recent research has caused drastic revision of concepts of the past 30 years on the fish passage problem."

ENDORSED BY SHUM

Dr. G. M. Shum, chairman of the British Columbia Energy Board, endorsed the Muir-Ruus paper, and said further research should be undertaken immediately.

American engineers and fishery biologists at the session contributed results of some of their recent research into the problem of hydro design.

GOOD RESULTS

They said new designs of turbines and spillways experimented with at the U.S. Corps of Engineers power project at Walla Walla, Wash., had shown good results in passing young fish downstream from spawning grounds.

At the Cushman power project in the Olympic Peninsula, further good results in getting spawning salmon upstream past dams had been obtained with newly-designed continuous-type fish ladders.

There was wide agreement among the delegates that the important thing was to complete the research and put new fish-passage facilities in operation before the start of power project construction in order not to interrupt the fish runs.

Former Deputy Dies Suddenly

Edwin G. ("Ed.") Rowbottom, former deputy minister of Trade and Industry, and widely known community worker, died suddenly late Thursday afternoon. He was 72.

Mr. Rowbottom was stricken at the Queen's Printer building, where he had gone to inspect some equipment as chairman of a conciliation board labor dispute involving the lithographing industry.

Other members of the board, and negotiators, were standing a few feet from the chairman when he collapsed. He was dead by the time an ambulance arrived.

Mr. Rowbottom resided at 2582 Vista Bay.

STARTED IN 1934

He entered the provincial government service in 1934 when he was appointed deputy minister of industries. The portfolio at the time was under the provincial treasury.

Four years later when the then premier T. D. Pattullo created a new department of trade and industry, he was appointed deputy minister of the department—a position he held until his retirement in 1954.

Widely known in Canada for his interest in promoting tourism, he was for some years president of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus.

Mr. Rowbottom was also an active community worker. A few weeks ago he served on the publicity committee of the successful Red Cross drive.

During the month of May he helped the Mason Sun Lodge campaign as a captain in the advance gifts and special names division, and was praised only last Friday as top canvasser in his group.

Six weeks ago he was returned for a second term as

Arab Mufti Spoiled Rescue Of 5,000 Jews, Trial Told

JERUSALEM (AP)—The prosecution claimed today in the Eichmann trial that the Arab Mufti of Jerusalem worked behind the scenes to prevent the rescue of 5,000 Jewish children from Nazi-controlled southeastern Europe.

Attorney General Gideon Hausner said the Mufti, Haj Aminel Hussein, authorities to do everything in their power to prevent the emigration project.

Hausner introduced in evidence a letter in which the Mufti, then a guest of the Nazis in Europe, told Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop that an "avalanche of Jews" had already brought a "catastrophe" for Palestine.

The Mufti's letter in 1943 followed British and American negotiations with Bulgaria and other Nazi-controlled countries in southeast Europe for the emigration of these children.

In another letter submitted to court, the Mufti referred to the "urgent needs for the prevention" of the Jewish emigration to Palestine.

He said a correct solution would be to send the children "somewhere else" or "place them under strong and energetic guards" possibly in Poland.

The prosecution produced a witness who lived through the three worst death camps, Maidanek, Auschwitz and Majdanek.

Israel Guttman, a tall, bespectacled man who works in a communal farm in Israel now, trembled as he testified.

Subsidies Not Enough For Sick Coal Industry

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA—The long-established policy of federal subvention help for Canada's ailing coal industry is "no longer sufficient," Mines Minister, Comtois told the Commons Thursday night.

He said it is "open to question whether under the present rapidly changing competitive conditions a sound basis can be found for a long-range basic policy."

Mr. Comtois said $13,244,900 earmarked for subvention payments during the current fiscal year is calculated to assist to market "every last ton of Canadian coal that can reasonably be sold with subvention help."

Until a new long-range approach to the coal crisis is worked out and applied, subvention support will be continued, he said. Such payments cover part of the freight costs for coal shipments.

CCF Leader Argue said Mr. Comtois' statement held out little hope for the industry. The government was "damning and condemning" the industry to complete disaster instead of evolving long-term policies.

Increase in Price of Gold Asked

An increase in the government's gold price as a means of shoring up a faltering Canadian industry was sought by one member from each of the three parties.

Armand Dumas (L—Villeneuve) asked the government to study the feasibility of increasing the gold price to between $42 and $44 an ounce from the present $35. The $35—U.S. dollars—is tied to the official United States government price.

J. J. Martel (PC—Chapleau) and Arnold Peters (CCF—Timiskaming) supported similar action, although neither suggested a new price level. Mr. Martel mentioned a private engineer's recommendation for a price of $70 an ounce.

They spoke as debate began on mines department spending estimates of $36,783,358 for the fiscal years that began

Trujillo's Playboy Son Named Chief of Staff

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (Reuters) — The playboy son of Gen. Rafael Trujillo prepared today to take over command of the Dominican Republic's strong armed forces following his father's assassination.

Rafael Jr. was named Thursday night to the new post of chief of staff of the combined armed forces. He will take up the post as soon as the necessary laws are pushed through.

Meanwhile, the dead dictator, gunned down by a band of attackers in a carefully-timed plot Tuesday night, was being buried today at night in San Cristobal, his birthplace.

As head of the armed forces, Rafael Jr. will have under his command an army of 100,000 men, the third largest navy in the Caribbean and an air force equipped with Vampire and Sabre jet planes—all built up by his father to maintain control of the country.

Rafael Jr., 32, flew here with his brother Leonidas Wednesday from Paris.

Rafael took a military course in the U.S. in 1958 but did not complete it—largely because of his activities outside the military field.

Congressmen charged at the time that American foreign aid to his country was being used to finance lavish spending by Rafael in the U.S., but he denied this.

Beside the Danube

AS VIENNA PREPARES FOR the first face-to-face meeting between Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Khrushchev, the experts repeat their warnings that we should not expect too much from the encounter. The talks on June 3 and 4 will not constitute negotiations; they will merely provide an opportunity for the leaders of East and West to become acquainted, to assess each other's strengths and weaknesses, and to lay the groundwork for possible future conferences at which firm decisions can be made.

At the same time, the importance of the Vienna talks should not be minimized. The topics of discussion in themselves embrace the major international problems of today; any of them, left unsolved too long, could plunge the world into chaos.

Unavoidable on the leaders' agenda will be the current stalemate in nuclear test ban talks, the wider problem of disarmament, the critical situations arising from Laos and Cuba, the pending threat of Soviet action in Berlin, Russia's insistence on a tripartite veto on all international executive bodies.

Vienna will not produce solutions to these, but the private and informal talks may point to ways in which agreement can be reached.

It is of vital importance, observers agree, that Mr. Kennedy make plain to Mr. Khrushchev the limits beyond which Soviet advancement may not go without danger of war.

The "lines of strength" drawn around the globe have been subject to severe pressure in recent months. The Communist thrust in the Congo was withdrawn, but it was intensified in Laos, creating a new threat to southeast Asia and to world peace. Soviet aid to Cuba has placed Communism on the Caribbean doorstep of the United States—fundamentally perhaps the most dangerous move Moscow has made yet.

Back of these developments and others with equally lethal potential is the continuing build-up of nuclear armaments by Russia and the United States, the improvement in space missiles which can carry nuclear warheads, and hints of even greater weapons to come.

Other East-West meetings of heads of state have been scheduled when the international climate was deemed favorable enough to give hope of success in the talks. The Vienna meeting takes place at this time for the opposite reason: the international situation has deteriorated to a point where personal warnings must be delivered and a basic understanding by Mr. Khrushchev of the dangers involved must be ensured.

Earlier, Mr. Kennedy had showed little inclination to meet Mr. Khrushchev until he had had more time to become settled in office. The talks scheduled for the coming weekend indicate a direct reversal of this stand. There is now an almost precipitate haste to exchange views and ward off any "war through misunderstanding."

The United States leader goes to the talks with two recent reverses heavy upon him. The eventual compromise settlement in Laos will obviously be far from what the United States originally demanded—will, in fact, be almost entirely what the Communist powers set out to obtain. The fiasco of the invasion of Cuba placed the United States in an embarrassing position—a position for which Mr. Kennedy publicly took full responsibility. He goes to meet Mr. Khrushchev with that burden of miscalculation and failure.

It is not a choice position from which to warn Mr. Khrushchev that he must take no more gambles—that he must not try to add more successes to his two recent ones. Much will depend on whether Mr. Khrushchev is clever enough to read between the lines of America's failures and see that they do not represent a real measure of her strength—that to a large extent, indeed, they are the result of self-imposed curbs, not weakness.

One other point will not escape Mr. Khrushchev. He will know that despite certain differences of opinion between the Western allies on details of policy, they are united on the major issue—the principle that they must stand together or fall separately. They may differ on what to do about the Berlin threat, about how to reconstruct NATO to best advantage, about how to coordinate their economies, about how to share their arms and nuclear strength—but a major threat from Russia must always unite them.

One of the most divisive forces in the Western alliance today is General de Gaulle, whose intense nationalism, insistence on French nuclear power, demands for tripartite control of NATO and other policies are causing his allies trouble. In view of this, there has been criticism that Mr. Kennedy's advisers erred in trying to take in too much on the current transatlantic trip.

Some Paris authorities say that turning the important visit to President de Gaulle into a stop-over on the way to Vienna was poor diplomacy, and that the Kennedy-de Gaulle talks suffered because of this.

It may be some time before this view can be assessed. The Paris discussions appear to have been conducted in a good spirit on both sides. We can only hope, with a memory of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev fiasco in Paris last year, that the Vienna talks achieve comparable harmony.

Highway Tolls Rising

IN A PIECE OF DRAMATIC phrasing, an American news service calls the automobile accident toll on Memorial Day weekend "a highway blood bath." Statistics show that fatalities exceeded the previous dismal record of 1950, when 347 lost their lives.

Canadians, familiar with the ratio of accidents in this country, are in no position to point the finger of shame at their neighbors. Our totals, per capita, bear no favorable comparison.

Against this background, drivers should contemplate their participation in the Canadian Highway Safety Council's safe driving campaign now under way and continuing to August.

Research authorities have pointed out that the shock treatment attempted by presenting to the driving public the figures on highway fatalities is not particularly effective. Drivers, grown immune to such statistics, conventionally assume that fatal crashes occur to other people, not to them. The fact, of course, is that no driver is exempt from injury. He can be hurt or killed in an accident due to his own carelessness or lapse in caution, or he can be the victim of bad driving by someone sharing the road with him.

The only protection is constant alertness, constant observance of safety regulations and practices.

The public has been told by authorities that $194,000,000 was paid out by automobile insurance companies in Canada to settle claims last year and that the figure was $10,000,000 above that of 1959.

These large sums may reflect an increase in bad driving and more accidents. Or they may represent the increasing costs of repairs—the difference between paying $5 to straighten out a fender on an old model and the renewal of the whole fender unit in a more modern car.

Whatever the figures reflect, they represent big money and the high cost of faulty motoring. Their price, of course, is not to be compared with the loss of life, which is beyond price and is rising as the Memorial Day weekend statistics of the United States show.

No Mantle of Martyrdom

FRANCE HAS GIVEN HER REbellious generals their lives. The leaders of the attempt to overthrow President de Gaulle last month have been stripped of honors, rank and pension. They have been disgraced. But the court, speaking in terms of humanitarianism, has refused to make of them authentic martyrs.

Provided the 15-year sentences imposed on M. Maurice Challe, 55, and M. Andre-Marie Zeller, 63, are carried out, the two prisoners will be old men when they are released. Held in what is called "criminal detention"—which means a regimen somewhat harsher than that imposed on ordinary inmates—they will have little opportunity to be an influence in French affairs for their remaining years. Nor will their names carry the glamour and the emotionally stirring impact associated with men who have given their lives for a cause.

A cardinal rule of revolution demands the death of the "king." Cool reason, mixed with feelings of humanity, in the present French case makes incarceration rather than death the suitable instrument for quelling rebellion.

The personal tragedies of the two men involved, and of their families, is deep. Publicly, however, they now disappear behind grey walls, presumably into oblivion.

"... This confounded wife of Kennedy's! I'm deuced if I can remember now what he's over in France for..."

KILLING WITH KINDNESS

Survival of the Fittest: Who is it?

THERE has always seemed to be something rather obscene about the new weed-killers which kill by nourishing too well. The general idea seems to be that by stimulating the weed plant to extreme growth it bursts its cells and kills itself. It hardly seems sporting. In fact, it's almost comparable to murdering people by cramping them with good nourishing food until they choke. And it is sordidly typical of the chemical age into which we are moving, when there will be a white or colored powder prescribed for almost every problem in life.

Chemicals are not an unqualified answer, however. Already the healing chemicals are found to have drawbacks. Because of increasing immunities on the part of germs, the chemicals are helping to produce races of almost unbeatable organisms. Are we looking ahead to see where this may lead?

All our modern safety from disease has depended on cleaner methods of living, and chemical attacks on the germs which cause disease. We congratulate ourselves on the virtual disappearance of diseases which once were a scourge throughout the world—bubonic plague, malaria, tuberculosis, yellow fever.

There was similar hope in the fight against other disease—venereal, for one. Yet recent news items tell of the occurrence of tougher strains of germs which do not succumb to chemical attack as was the case a few years ago.

Will ever-stronger chemicals be devised to cope with ever-stronger germs? What can be the end of that progression?

Persons allergic to the drugs fear that in case of accident they may be taken to hospital in an unconscious condition and given an injection which to them would be harmful. If they join the organization they are given a bracelet or necklace to wear, which indicates their allergy and informs the doctor where more details can be obtained. A similar organization is being formed in Canada, according to a Toronto item.

The significant point is that man needs protection against his own weapons, against his own germ-victims and against himself.

The long-term view is dim, too. Germs outlive chemical warfare through the tough, merciless process of survival of the fittest. It produces a race that can stand the worst the environment throws at it; the cost of such immunity is the terrible toll of predecessors who could not stand the new conditions and so perished. Only the fittest—those who were found to fit the environment—remained to carry on the race.

Tough Test

Mankind does not subject itself to such a tough test. Our humanitarian instincts will not permit us to impose the principle of survival of the fittest. In any case, many good qualities might be lost in preserving only the qualities with survival value.

So the prospects are that the germs will go on getting stronger and stronger, and man, behind his wall of chemicals, will go on getting weaker and weaker.

It poses an interesting trend, on the outcome of which everyone can make his own guess.

Not 'Maybe'—It Is

I would like to draw the attention of Times readers to a misquotation in the publication of my reply to the questionnaire of Dr. Keenleyside about nuclear disarmament. The passage, "We oppose the causes of nuclear weapons and this may be the only effective way of opposing them," should have read "this 'is' the only effective way of opposing them."

It is unfortunate that Dr. Keenleyside did not see fit to include the paragraph in my reply that did deal with the causes. They (wars) have always been commercial struggles between groups of capitalists over markets, resources and territory. Wars will not stop until a majority of the workers stop supporting capitalism.

"Fleecing"

The provincial government seems wholly preoccupied with the importation of tourists these days, and I'm fed up with it. It's pathetic that a province of this magnitude has to sink to such indignities to line its coffers, and that the survival of our economy apparently depends on the fleecing ability of the inhabitants. I don't like paying even a portion of Newton Steacy's salary to further this "bottom of the barrel" policy, and I imagine the constituents who ousted him like it even less.

There is one thing, of a separate nature, that interests me. Why do the Communist Party back the C.C.F.? Is it simply because they despise their rightist type of socialism? Or do they feel that a socialist government would be harder to make inroads into than a free enterprise government? The end result of their action seems to point to this.

Blood Sacrifice

By JOSEPH ALSOP

A CRIME almost past imagining is being perpetrated upon the Chinese masses by their Communist masters. In the simplest moral terms, the Chinese people are now being offered as a blood sacrifice on the altar of the new Mammon of our times, industrial power. But in hard-political terms, the chief interest of this crime lies in the enormous political risks which it involves. For the sake of forced industrialization, the Communist masters of China are now gambling their regime's future.

Although this view will seem wildly eccentric to the more fashionable analysts, it is quite possible that the Communists will lose their gamble. Oddly enough, the best proof that this view is not eccentric is to be found in the following passages from the official Communist "Outline History of China."

These Were the First

"In the year 209 B.C. a group of 900 conscripts on their way to the frontier for guard duties... killed their officer in command and revolted... These were the first to raise the cry for the overthrow of the Chin empire..."

"In less than a month their army had grown to more than 1,000 cavalry and several tens of thousands of infantry and owned some 700 war-chariots. Inspired by their uprising, peasants all over the country took up arms..."

The official history goes on to describe how the power of the Chin empire effectively collapsed, almost within a matter of weeks, after this sudden, desperate strike in a chain-gang of wretched peasant conscripts. As explanation for this astonishing collapse, the official history also approvingly quotes an ancient author, as follows:

"The more powerful the armies of Chin grew, the more its enemies multiplied. The government was too harsh towards the people and punishment was too severe..."

The lessons of the past are supposed to be utterly outmoded nowadays. Yet anyone who reflects upon the real meaning of the foregoing quotations will understand why the crime the Chinese Communists are now perpetrating is also a perilous gamble. It is a gamble in their own terms, moreover. The harshness of the Chin government towards the people was as nothing—it was the merest milk and water stuff—compared with the present harshness of the Chinese Communists.

Assuming the harshness as a fact for the moment, what are the other reasons why the foregoing quotations have so much current meaning? The first and simplest reason is the inherent proof that even the most awe-inspiring facade of monolithic authority can be remarkably deceptive.

Totalitarian Power

The Chin government was founded by a ruthlessly totalitarian power originally based in northwestern China. This state of Chin owed its strength to the iron program of the world's first Stalinist, Shank Wei-Yang. The Chin empire was Stalinist in character over two millennia before Stalin.

The Chin conquest of the rest of China, completed only 12 years before Chin's sudden downfall, produced not merely the first phase of the historic, long enduring Chinese empire. It also produced the most powerful single government ever founded in any part of the world, in the whole long period since the first man-ape had first used a rock as an offensive weapon.

Such was the state which came to an end because of a strike in a chain gang.

This gigantic police state of the past built the first Great Wall of China to guard against external enemies. But the remedy was probably worse than the disease, because of the internal enemies created by the remorseless conscription of countless labor gangs to build the wall.

The enemies who "multiplied" were certainly internal. They were the Chinese people. And Chin really fell because of the first of those sudden, unpredictable, overwhelming general strikes, for which the Chinese people have a curious knack, as their later history also proves.

Key to Success

The key to the success of the rising against Chin is also to be found in the quotations from the official Communist "Outline History."

The Chinese peasantry in 209 B.C. could not muster the cavalry and war chariots mentioned above, any more than the toiling masses in the Communists' peasant communes possess armored cars and tanks today. In fact, the Chin armies, being peasant armies, joined the peasant rising.

Without this, the rising would have been quickly crushed. With this, the rising was irresistible; if it occurs and rallies the armed forces.

The real question, in sum, is not whether the Chinese Communist government can be brought down by the people. The real question is whether the conditions exist in which the people may be driven to bring down the government.

MARKED for READING

I have always prided myself on my linguistic ability. Of course, I have made mistakes. During my first visit to France someone asked my very attractive companion if she was engaged to be married. While she hunted through a phrase-book for an appropriate answer, I helpfully explained that she wasn't; but that she was hoping. How could I know that to be "hoping" in French is equivalent to "expecting" in English?

—Norma Young on the BBC.

Cheaper by the Gross

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The place looked something like the neighborhood hardware store where I buy those gaskets and things that my wife uses to repair the lawn mower.

Hanging from peg-boards standing against the walls were all sorts of washers and bolts and clamps from which dangled yellow, orange and blue tags.

This was not, however, the type of store that you and I could afford to patronize. Only the government could pay those prices.

It was another one of Rep. F. Edward Hebert's famous "chamber of horrors" exhibits of the military buying practices. Like those in the past, this year's display is virtually guaranteed to make a taxpayer's blood run cold.

Hebert, a Louisiana democrat, is chairman of a house investigating subcommittee which for a number of years has been trying to promote more competitive bidding in military procurement.

He contends that the Pentagon's habit of negotiating contracts for materials has turned the defence department into "a wonderland of waste." In support of this argument, he brings in actual samples.

One item hanging on the hearing room wall was a small washer. If my hardware dealer charged me a nickel for it, I would think I was being robbed.

The air force, however, had been paying 43 cents apiece for the washers until it started buying them under competitive bidding. Then the price dropped to six cents.

In explaining their buying policies, the armed forces contend that many items are only available from a single supplier and thus must be obtained by negotiation rather than bidding.

But Hebert & Co. contend that in many cases the procurement officials merely take the easy way out. Consider, for instance, those 7,875 clamps ordered by the navy's aviation supply office.

The navy negotiated a contract to buy the clamps for $7.29 each. But the supplier who got the contract solicited competitive bids from three manufacturers and was able to obtain them for $2.19 each.

Comptroller-General Joseph Campbell, whose general accounting office has been investigating defence procurement, told the subcommittee about one case in which the air force saved $25,000 accidentally.

It had intended to order 618 kits from a supplier whose unit price was $72.15. But, through a mistake, the purchase proposal was widely distributed.

As a result, one manufacturer offered to supply the kits for $31.79 each.

The subcommittee plans to question defence officials about all of this next month in an effort to pinpoint responsibility. But Hebert conceded this will be difficult to do.

During a similar inquiry in 1950, he said, there was so much buck-passing that the President of the United States wound up being responsible for some 10-penny nails.

ARCHBISHOP CLARK

'Free Partnership' For All Indians

FREDERICTON (CP)

Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada, said Thursday the Canadian Indian deserves "free and equal partnership" in this country with all Canadians.

Archbishop Clark said the danger exists in trying to give the Indian his rightful place in society that "we will adopt a paternalistic approach." It was a "very real temptation to decide what the Indian needs and then impose it on him rather than release him into conditions in which he can work out his problems in the same manner as other groups."

ANTI-POLIO 'COCKTAILS' SERVED

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—Allegheny County school children drank polio virus cocktails Thursday to launch a mass trial of an orally-administered live anti-polio vaccine.

The community effort to stamp out polio will continue today and Saturday, when 17 clinics will be open to all residents between the ages of three months and 45 years.

HOPE FOR 70,000

"We hope to vaccinate over 70,000 people in these two days," said Dr. George Simons, president of the Allegheny-

Garrett County Medical Society which is sponsoring the drive.

The vaccine, developed by Dr. Albert B. Sabin of Cincinnati, was produced by Wyeth Laboratories of Philadelphia, and it is difficult to drink the salty-tasting liquid; the vaccine is placed on lumps of sugar. A dose consists of two drops. And for the very young, the dissolved in several ounces of distilled water. For those who mouth.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Auricula Valued Garden Plant

Primula polyanthus, or the polyanthus (many-flowered primrose) as it is commonly called is well known as a feature plant in the spring display of color in local gardens.

Not so well known is its close relative Primula auricula, commonly called the auricula.

A valued Jack plant in older gardens the auricula has been superseded by the polyanthus, because of the latter's increase of size and color range in recent years.

While not so flamboyant as the polyanthus, the flower colors and markings are much more intriguing. Pastel green, for instance, into yellow, and outlined with black oblongs in geometrical precision, is only one of many color combinations and markings.

The growth habit also differs from the polyanthus. Instead of an entirely fibrous root system the auricula has an enlarged stem called the "carrot" which ends with fibrous roots, and from the top of the carrot grow the separate heads which form the plant.

Propagation is carried out by removing these separate heads and rooting them, or by separating the carrots with roots attached.

Division of established plants can be done now, directly after flowering, and the same applies to the polyanthus.

The great point in the favor of the auricula is that it does not attract all the primula (strawberry) weevils in the district, and it will endure more sunshine than the polyanthus.

A most pleasing assortment can be grown from mixed seed, the best color forms being saved and their number increased by division.

The catch to growing from seed is to obtain it fresh, and that means from the auricula specialists who distribute their seed as soon as gathered. Once upon a time there were several local suppliers of seed, and if any are still producing, I would appreciate receiving their names to add to my "where-to-obtain" list.

The seed is sown in June or early July, and it pays to order in advance to be sure of obtaining it as early as possible.

Retrain Unemployed Urges Labor Expert

OTTAWA (CP)—Unemployment is not a "celestial affliction beyond the control of man," the Canadian Welfare Council was told Wednesday at the wind-up of its 41st annual meeting.

Max Swerdlow of Ottawa, director of education for the Canadian Labor Congress, said its solution called for a "bold break with past philosophies and present practices."

He did not think that lack of education was a sole cause. "If all the present jobless became Ph.D.s, unemployment would still exist in our present economic structure," he said.

Public or private investment was needed to meet the demands for training facilities in industry. But those who hadn't completed grade school should not be "chucked out the window."

He called for training of the "whole man." "We are not just training a man to do a specialized job."

He said "Canada should follow Sweden's example in giving salaries while retraining unemployed men over 40.

Growers Wine Shows Big Sales Jump

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Victoria's own winery, Growers' Wine Ltd., with its principal plant on Quadra Street, reports a healthy 11.7 per cent increase in gross sales for the year ended April 30.

The company expects that when all figures are available it will be shown that Growers' had the largest percentage increase of any Canadian winery.

Largest increase in the year's $1,980,099 sales came from the eastern provinces. In addition to wine sales, the company reports encouraging results from its business as sole Canadian agent for Guinness stout and Bass ale. Other distributing agencies are being negotiated for by the company.

During May, first month of the new fiscal year, a further increase in sales of about 25 per cent over May of last year is expected.

Gordon Bell

Friday is one of Neil McDiarmid's interests with a fifty-per cent interest in the company. The company is also reported to be negotiating for operations on Craigmont area property.

Also of interest in mining news was strengthening of copper prices this week with International Nickel boosting the price of refined copper to 30 1/4 cents a pound, just three-quarters of a cent under the U.S. price.

This makes a total price boost for Inco of 2 1/2 cents a pound in just over two weeks.

With the merger approved by Ottawa, shares of Canadian Bank of Commerce and Imperial Bank of Canada are removed from trading today to be replaced by Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce shares of $10 par value.

Commerce shareholders will trade one for one, while Imperial shareholders get seven new for each six held.

Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges have followed up Thursday's lowering of the chartered banks' prime interest rate by lowering their minimum interest rates to be charged by member firms on customers debit balances on margin accounts.

The bank rate went down from 5 1/2 per cent to 5 per cent while the stock exchange rates went from 6 1/2 per cent to 6 per cent. The exchanges have held at 1 per cent above the prime bank rate for some time.

Sale of B.C. Crown oil and gas rights has been scheduled for July 27 with applications requesting specific acreages be offered to be received by the Department of Mines and Petroleum Resources by June 21.

Electric and gas appliance sales in the Vancouver Island area served by the B.C. Electric showed a fractional decline in April compared with the previous month.

Total for April was $256,271 while for March it was $256,510. However, the April figure was down heavily from the previous year's $302,476 for the same month.

Personal Touch Vital to Trade With Communists

OTTAWA (CP)—The personal touch tends to mean more in developing trade with Communist countries than it does elsewhere, says Canada's first trade commissioner in Moscow.

William Van Vliet, appointed last year, says the Soviet state trading system causes this and "it is the combination of visits by Soviet trade representatives to Canada that will guarantee the progressive development of Canadian trade relations with the Soviet Union."

Recent performance of Friday Mines Ltd. has had the local penny-mining stock experts blinking in amazement.

Selling as low as 3 cents a share earlier this year with few buyers, Friday has boomed up to the heavy volume 60 and 70 cent class in the last few days.

B.C. Agriculture Chief Suggests Easing Tariffs

PENTICTON (CP)—Charles Walls, manager of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, suggested this week a gradual easing of tariffs and implementation of more adequate anti-dumping regulations may be the answer to the question of protectionism or free trade.

Speaking to more than 300 delegates at the joint convention of the B.C. Beef Cattle Growers and the B.C. Livestock Producers Co-operative Associations, he asked the question:

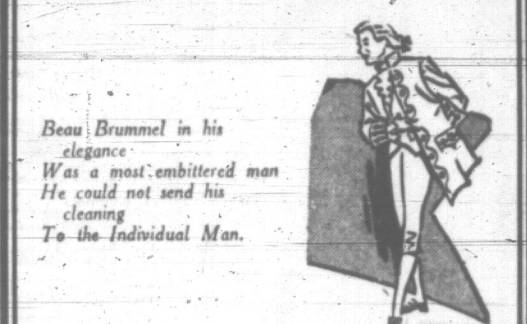

"Can Canadian agriculture operate to better advantage under a free trade or protectionist policy?"

He said Prairie grain growers strongly advocate elimination of tariffs.

Oil Deliveries Show Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co. reports its crude oil deliveries in May were the highest since July, 1957, averaging 165,338 barrels daily. The average for the same period last year was 133,920 barrels.

Scheduled deliveries for June, 1961, are expected to be 155,000 barrels a day. A company spokesman attributed the drop in deliveries to the maintenance shutdown of a Vancouver refinery.

What's That Law?

NEW WESTMINSTER—There's such a thing as the law of averages, but until it catches up to them, New Westminster is having itself a ball in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

The Royal City crew, strong on offence, miserly on defence, and well-balanced overall, made it 11 wins without a loss here Wednesday night. They turned back Vancouver, 14-7, before 4,000 hoarse and rabid patrons.

As long as Cliff Sepka stays healthy, New Westminster appears to have an excellent chance of widening the lead. Sepka took five shots, scored with four. His two assists gave him 46 points for the season, better than four points a game.

When Sepka wasn't making matters miserable for Vancouver goalie Don Hamilton, other New Westminster sharpshooters were.

Charlie Saunders, Paul Parnell and Harold Fox each found the Vancouver net twice. Bill Jobb, Ivan Stewart, Bill Wilkes and Doug Wallsmith managed one goal each.

Gordon Gimple was the sole Vancouver shooter to give New Westminster any concern. He scored three times.

Temperatures matched the glowing heat in Queen's Park Arena. Vancouver's Bill Chisholm and John Cervi both took match misconduct penalties. Chisholm was asked to retire after swinging his stick more than 10 times against the screen in an attempt to get at a jeering fan. Cervi took his shower early for complimentary remarks to the referees.

'HEADS UP'... BIRMINGHAM IS COMING!

If they use their heads and their feet, Victoria City All-Stars may give Birmingham City a vigorous tussle when they clash Wednesday at Royal Athletic Park. Eamonn Arthur (left) and George

Wright, right-back and right-half, respectively, practice headers in preparation for soccer game with touring Britishers. Kickoff time is 8 p.m. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

Haddix Does His Bit To Keep Pirates Close

By UP International
They call Harvey Haddix "The Kitten," but a better nickname might be "The Giant Killer." The first nickname describes the lithe, little left-hander's pitching mannerisms adequately enough but the second is a far more accurate guide to his value to the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates this year. In fact, it's no exaggeration to say that Harvey is the principal reason the Pirates—despite all their problems—are only three games out of first place in the National League.

Haddix displayed his value to the Pirates again Thursday night when he pitched them to a rain-shortened, seven-inning, 8-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. The win raised his record to 4-1 and it's a record that requires a second look to judge his value to the club.

BEATS BIG ONES
Here's why. The Pirates are rocking along a little above .500 and having trouble "out-cunning" the heavier-hitting other contenders. They stand only 9-9, for example, against Milwaukee, San Francisco and St. Louis—the three teams against which Haddix has compiled his entire record. That 4-1 mark thus represents a difference of six games in the standings—the difference between the Pirates' current contending position and a position that would have the world champions in dire straits.

The Cardinals enabled Haddix to take a half-game lead by beating San Francisco, 7-6, and Chicago Cubs routed Philadelphia Phillies, 10-3, in the other National League games. In the American League, Boston Red Sox beat New York Yankees, 7-6, Washington Senators shaded Los Angeles, 3-2, and Detroit Tigers played a 4-4 tie in a game called in the eighth inning by a thunderstorm. Haddix survived a shaky first inning, in which the Braves scored both their runs, to strike out seven and breeze behind a 10-hit attack that included two homers by Smokey Burgess and one by Dick Groat.

FOSTER'S THE DRIVER TO BRAKE
Can Billy Foster make it three in a row? That question will be answered at Western Speedway Saturday night. Winner of the last two trophy dashes and main events, Foster will again put his Haslam Special to the test against the cream of Vancouver Island stock car drivers. They "take off" at 7:30 p.m.

EPSON OAKS WON By Sweet Solera
EPSOM, England (Reuters)—Sweet Solera today won Britain's top race for three-year-old fillies, the Epsom Oaks. The English-owned filly, unbeaten in her three previous starts this season and the 11-to-4 favorite, strode away from another English-owned entry, Ambergris, to win the 1 1/2-mile race handily.

French-trained Anne La Douce was third. Sweet Solera, ridden by jockey Billy Ruckley, earned a winner's purse of £18,103 15s ($50,000) for her owner, Mrs. S. M. Costello.

Pro Pats Find Punch To Mark Up First Win
Fine relief hurling by Joe Lesprance and smart stickwork by Jerry Mulholland sparked Pro Pats to a 13-7 victory over George Heywood Wednesday night at Heywood Park.

The win moved Pats into fifth place, a game ahead of George, in the Senior B Men's Softball League.

Lesprance came on in relief of Rod Sudaby to throttle George after Pats had taken an early lead. He held the losers to two runs in the last three innings.

Mulholland rapped two doubles and two singles in five trips, batting in two runs. Navy plays Chinese Students tonight at 6:30 p.m. Pro Pats and Maycocks meet in a rained-out game at 2 p.m. Sunday, followed at 6:30 by Half-Way House and George.

Pro Pats Find Punch To Mark Up First Win
Fine relief hurling by Joe Lesprance and smart stickwork by Jerry Mulholland sparked Pro Pats to a 13-7 victory over George Heywood Wednesday night at Heywood Park.

The win moved Pats into fifth place, a game ahead of George, in the Senior B Men's Softball League.

Lesprance came on in relief of Rod Sudaby to throttle George after Pats had taken an early lead. He held the losers to two runs in the last three innings.

Mulholland rapped two doubles and two singles in five trips, batting in two runs. Navy plays Chinese Students tonight at 6:30 p.m. Pro Pats and Maycocks meet in a rained-out game at 2 p.m. Sunday, followed at 6:30 by Half-Way House and George.

Philip Joins Prayer
LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Philip joined 1,500 apprentices and trainees from Commonwealth countries at a Commonwealth technical training week service at St. Paul's Cathedral in London Thursday.

Dr. E. C. Robertson, associate physician at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, said liquid diets are only a crutch for persons who want to lose weight, and one brand she said is likely to reduce an individual to "a mental case at the end of two weeks."

"Certainly," she added, "persons using it for lengthy periods would have to reform their whole eating habits."

Dr. Robertson said one Canadian in every 16 is overweight and advocates a moderate, well-balanced diet avoiding fats and starches.

Dr. W. G. Cosbie of Toronto told the conference there appears to be a definite association between cigaret smoking and lung cancer — and last year Canadians smoked 34,000,000,000 cigarets.

'A MENTAL CASE IN 2 WEEKS'

Doctor Blasts Liquid Diet 'Crutch'

TORONTO (CP) — Liquid diets, smoking and Canada's discriminatory immigration policies were criticized by doctors Thursday at the 41st conference of the Health League of Canada.

Philip Joins Prayer
LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Philip joined 1,500 apprentices and trainees from Commonwealth countries at a Commonwealth technical training week service at St. Paul's Cathedral in London Thursday.

Dr. E. C. Robertson, associate physician at Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children, said liquid diets are only a crutch for persons who want to lose weight, and one brand she said is likely to reduce an individual to "a mental case at the end of two weeks."

"Certainly," she added, "persons using it for lengthy periods would have to reform their whole eating habits."

Dr. Robertson said one Canadian in every 16 is overweight and advocates a moderate, well-balanced diet avoiding fats and starches.

Dr. W. G. Cosbie of Toronto told the conference there appears to be a definite association between cigaret smoking and lung cancer — and last year Canadians smoked 34,000,000,000 cigarets.

Bad Light on U.K.
LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio presented a special program on Britain for Russian children Thursday. It said Britain is "a capitalist world, where all wealth created by the people goes into the pockets of millionaires."

High chief ranger of the Order of Foresters, S. C. Berridge of Mission, B.C., will be among top officials of the organization at the convention and will head the official party which will arrive June 16.

The convention will open officially June 20 and last three days.

Headquarters of the convention will be the Empress Hotel and delegates will participate in a parade, a wreath-laying ceremony in honor of the war dead and a banquet and dance.

Highlight of the banquet will be the presentation of a cheque to the Canadian Cancer Society, a Dominion-wide donation from Foresters to aid the national objective of the order.

FATHER PROMISED PRINCETON

Daughter Hangs on To Big Trust Fund

NEW YORK (AP)—Heiress Diana Cullom Davis has refused to surrender a $3,800,000 trust fund to her father's alma mater, Princeton University.

Miss Davis, 22, is at odds with her investment banker father, Shelby Cullom Davis, over the huge trust fund he set up for her, and which he promised to Princeton.

Davis set up a meeting with Princeton officials to have his daughter sign over the trust fund. Diana didn't show up.

But Thursday she denied knowing about the meeting and said she was resisting "pressure" to sign over the fund. She added:

"I called him and told him that after my marriage I would consider seriously what to do about the trust fund. He was so bitter that he hung up on me. Now I don't know what I'll decide to do. He's doing all this for his own glory, anyway."

On June 24, Diana is scheduled to marry John Means Spencer, a history teacher at the Darrow School in New Lebanon, N.Y.

Diana also intimated that her parents are against the marriage.

Davis accuses his daughter of "unreasonable selfishness" and says she has "an assured $30,000-a-year income for life and a $100,000 cash gift."

Before leaving Thursday on a business trip to Europe, Davis said in a statement:

"Diana has always been a good girl, but money seems to encourage greed. We were far happier when we had less."

Davis also said he "can only attribute her unreasonable selfishness to the unrealistic materialism prevalent among American youth today."

Meanwhile Diana, a graduate of Wheaton College, was reported seeking a teaching job of her own in New England.

The big trust fund grew from a $4,000 fund started at Diana's birth. With additional gifts and investment manage-

'GO SLOW ON OAS'—MICHENER

TORONTO (CP)—House of Commons Speaker Roland Michener Wednesday night cautioned against immediate Canadian membership in the Organization of American States recently urged by President Kennedy.

Speaking to the Young Progressive Conservative Association in his riding of St. Paul's, Mr. Michener said Latin Americans "might be suspicious" if Canada joined the OAS so soon after a U.S. request. The invitation should come from the Latin Americans, he said.

Referring to the president's request made during his Ottawa visit May 16-18, Mr. Michener said, "I'm not sure it was the wisest thing for Mr. Kennedy to do."

QUICK SWITCH FROM SOUTH AFRICAN REGISTRY

China-Bound Grain Ship British Overnight

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Shanghai-bound South African freighter, taking aboard the largest grain cargo ever loaded here, changed its flag for a British ensign this week to avoid a Communist Chinese ban on commercial transactions with South Africa.

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Lt. Col. Israel Baer, a former Israeli military planner, went on trial here Thursday charged with eight counts of spying for an unnamed Communist country. The trial opened in secret.

The 16,210-ton tanker President Brand changed its registry temporarily from Johannesburg to London to avoid the new edict.

The vessel is loading 23,800 tons of grain for shipment to Communist China under its contract with the Canadian government. It is making the first of two trips between Vancouver and Shanghai under a charter agreement.

The London agents for the owners said Thursday they received word from agents in China that the charter would be rendered void by the deree unless registry of the vessel was changed.

The change in registry and South Africa's breaking away this week from the Commonwealth have little personal significance for most of the crew members.

DUNCAN — A shortage of physical education and commerce teachers and counsellors is looming for Cowichan School District 65 in September, superintendent A. D. Jones has reported to the board of trustees.

OTTAWA (UPI)—The latest sampling of federal political opinion, reveals a slight upsurge in the popularity of the Conservative government.

A Gallup poll, dated May 31 and released Thursday by the National Liberal Federation, showed that Conservative popularity among the electorate rose from an April low of 38 per cent to 40 per cent.

The Liberals, who had 45 per cent of the electorate in the April sampling, slipped in the same period to 42 per cent.

The CCF gained a point in the two months to 9 per cent; 1 per cent said they supported the New Party.

Paris Blast Toll Rises to 18

PARIS (Reuters)—The known death toll in the collapse of 25 homes rose to 18 today when rescue workers recovered another body and a woman died in hospital.

Workers had rescued 55 persons injured in the underground gas explosions that wrecked half a square mile of suburban Clamart.

Authorities feared at least eight persons are missing.

COLLAPSED IN SECONDS

The 25 houses collapsed in a few seconds Thursday morning after a series of explosions. Several of the houses slid into a hole 60 feet deep.

Recent rains were blamed for an earth slide that ripped jagged cracks in the street, tore up gas pipes and toppled electrical poles. The explosions followed the massive earth movement.

The average age of 44-year-old President John F. Kennedy's 34 predecessors was 55.

Couple on Honeymoon in Seattle

Now on a honeymoon trip in Seattle are Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Farmer whose marriage took place in St. Alban's Anglican Church on Tuesday evening. Bride is the former Joanne Aileen Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell, 1325 Finlayson Street. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Farmer, 1664 Burton Street, are the groom's parents.

Gladoli and Iris decorated the church for the double-ring ceremony at which Rev. F. W. Hayes officiated. White ribbons and bells marked the pews.

White lace over taffeta formed the attractive ballerina-length gown worn by the bride when she entered the church on the arm of her father. Gown was fashioned with short sleeves and the straight front neckline dipping to a V at back. An heirloom veil misted from a rhinestone tiara. Tailsman roses, heather and stephanotis topped the white prayer book she carried.

Miss Lynne Russell, the bride's sister, and Miss Rhoda Jones, sister of the groom, were the attendants. Miss the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. Mc-Russell wore a white and mauve floral polished cotton gown with mauve chiffon overskirt. Miss Jones' polished cotton gown had circles of yellow, green and orange on a white background, complemented with a white overskirt. Pale yellow chrysanthemums were in their crescent bouquets.

Robert Farmer was best man and ushers were John Michael Farmer and David McIntosh.

Receiving guests at a reception in the home of the groom's parents, Mrs. Russell wore a turquoise silk dress with a matching bolero jacket. The groom's mother wore a teal blue suit. Both had corsages of tiny white gladioli, tipped with touches of pink and yellow.

White wedding bells topped a three-tier wedding cake that centred the bride's table. A. C. George proposed the toast. Among out-of-town guests was the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. Mc-Russell, Edmonton.

guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Filion at their home at Town Park in West Saanich.

Miss Florence Goward, left, and Miss Alice Genge, old girls of Norfolk House School, are active in plans for the garden fete arranged by the Old Girls' Association at the home of Mrs. Montague Bridgman, 4076 Quadra Street, on Saturday afternoon commencing at 2 p.m. Entertainment will include recorder numbers, songs, Highland dancing and piano solos. Afternoon tea will be served in the garden. Arrows along the roadside will give directions and a poster at the gates will show entrance to the driveway. Proceeds will be used for the school library.

Flood Losses At Millions

FREDERICTON (CP)—Preliminary estimates of huge losses from flooding in much of New Brunswick this week were made known Wednesday as swollen rivers subsided.

C. B. Sherwood, Progressive Conservative leader in the legislature, said property damage is estimated at "millions of dollars". Premier Robichaud termed the damage "horrible" and "a disaster". He estimated the destruction to bridges and highways alone at $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

Residents were slowly returning to abandoned homes and children to schools.

Premier Robichaud said an order-in-council will be passed Friday for a $50,000 provincial contribution to a newly established disaster fund. J. Ernest Anderson, fund committee chairman, announced that the federal government will be asked for a $250,000 contribution towards a minimum objective of $1,000,000.

Many Teachers Receive Pay While Training

VANCOUVER (CP)—A survey by the B.C. School Trustees Association shows that many Commonwealth teachers receive allowances or salaries while training.

New Zealand teacher-trainees are paid salaries while attending teachers college; Australians receive living allowances and free tuition; In England and Wales they receive allowances based on need.

B.C. students receive government bursaries of $100 to $200, based on need, or government scholarships that pay half the fees of first-class students and a third of the fees of second-class students. Loans ranging from $600 to $2,000, to be repaid at current interest rates, are also available.

FOLK FEELING KEPT INTACT

N. Kamloops Praised For 'The Rainmaker'

By AUDREY JOHNSON

A lively production of a Canadian play with a definite folk quality almost stole the show Thursday night in the second session of the B.C. Drama Festival one-act finals.

Gwen Pharis Ringwood, a Westerner, had written of the country around Medicine Hat, which she knows well, in "The Rainmaker".

The script is full flavored and colorful, if somewhat over extended and anti-climactic, but production by North Kamloops PTA Theatre Wing did ample justice to its best qualities.

Mrs. Florence James stripped off the kid gloves she had worn Wednesday and gave a good half-hour of firm, straightforward constructive commentary on the evening's three productions which she said had provided wide variety and some highly rewarding moments.

Citizens of Medicine Hat:
Dianne Smyth, Russ Mitchell, Marion Pugsley, Andy Tettergill, Eleanor Hewlett, Islay Sampson, June Johnson, Pat Ritchie, Jacqueline Mason.

Band: Clifford Skrypnuk, Brian Brooks, Michael Burns, Doug Harrington, Dennis Beaman—members of North Kamloops High School Band.

Director: Tom Kerr.

This huge cast and its director were highly praised by the adjudicator for having kept the "folk" feeling intact.

The director had made good use of the crowds, had handled the stage well and also made effective use of the lighting.

"And what a lovely little band," Mrs. James exclaimed concerning the five pieces that included cornets, saxophones and a Sousaphone.

Bear Attacks Canadians

OTTAWA (UPI)—A polar bear attacked a member of Canada's Continental Shelf project expedition and mauled one of his arms, Mines Minister Paul Comtois disclosed Thursday night.

Mr. Comtois gave few details of the attack but said the man was not in hospital.

There was no mention of the fate of the bear, which wandered into the scientists' camp 800 miles from the North Pole.

Salt-Biting Into Bridges

VANCOUVER (CP)—Salt, which is eating into the country's motor cars, is also biting into its highway bridges, the Engineering Institute of Canada was told Thursday.

A paper describing a program of bridge inspection and repair in London, Ont., said:

"The condition of many bridges was worse than might have been expected and the cause, in part, is attributed to increasing use of de-icing chemicals."

The paper, prepared by R. M. Dillon, consultant, and P. H. D. Edwards, senior structural engineer, of M. M. Dillon and Co. Ltd., recommends a number of protective measures, including sealing of concrete surfaces.

They've a Word for it But You'd Never Know

By DOUG FORRESTER
(Special to The Times)

TOKYO—Although English is taught in the high schools and universities of Japan, the visitor soon discovers that comparatively few Japanese can either speak the language or understand it when they hear it.

Surprisingly, though, a great many people can read and write English fairly well. We use so many sounds that just do not appear in Japanese that pronunciation is their biggest stumbling block in acquiring fluency.

Apart from its well-known difficulty with "t's" and "r's", the Japanese language has no "th", no "v", a very modified "f", and a limited use of "w". Combinations of sounds which seem easy and natural to westerners are quite impossible in Japanese and hence we have English words that have been adopted into the language so distorted that one might be forgiven for not recognizing them at all.

A simple word like "stand", for instance, becomes "sutando". "Glass" becomes "grasu", while a "picnic" is a "pikunikku". The list could be extended almost indefinitely.

Students Gather

Students, in particular, are most anxious to improve their spoken English and if, when we are shopping, we stop to discuss the merchandise, we often notice that students in the vicinity will gradually edge nearer merely in order to hear English. Sometimes, on trains, in coffee bars, in restaurants, eager youths who manage to overcome their shyness will haltingly ask if they might "have conversation." The ensuring questions are quite predictable: "How long have you been in Japan?" "How do you like Japan?" Etc., etc.

They Get Personal

If the talk goes on long enough the questions tend to become more personal: "How old are you?" "Did you and your wife have romance before you were married?" This last question rather threw me the first time I heard it but I soon learned that all that was meant was "Did you and your wife freely choose one another on the basis of love rather than by an arrangement by your parents?" And when we answer that we did, indeed, "have romance," they smile and say, "I am very glad. That is what I would like for myself."

Inevitably, at some stage of the discussion, the student will apologize most profusely for the pooriness of his English and this seems a little strange to us. We cannot help but feel that it is us who should be apologizing for the inadequacy of our Japanese and often think what a contrast this attitude is to that of some Canadians who become irritated and angry with foreigners whose English is not entirely clear.

Tremendous Asset

One young university student, the son of our local rice merchant, comes to our apartment every Monday evening for a couple of hours of English conversation. He realizes that, in the business world in which he hopes to work, a good knowledge of English will be a tremendous asset. But, until he spoke to me, I don't think he had ever talked with any English-speaking foreigner and for the first two or three sessions he had trouble in understanding me "because of my accent." Finally he explained that his English teacher is a Japanese whose spoken English is quite different from mine. I have no doubt it is. I have heard from other Japanese friends that English teachers in many schools and colleges keep discreetly out of the way when any English-speaking visitor comes around because they fear their lack of fluency will cause them to lose face.

Involved Style

One evening this student brought his English text-book, so-called, for me to look at. I was appalled. It was a small book of English-essays dealing with Danish and Saxon influence on English culture at the time of the Norse invasion.

The subject matter was obscure enough, God wot, but the style was so involved that I found it most difficult to grasp the meaning. Our student, Katayanagi-san, had marked, underlined, and written in the Japanese translation for fully every second word and even then, I'm quite sure, had only the vaguest idea of what it was all about.

Apparently the study of essays of this type is a common device for learning written English and doubtless accounts for students (and professors) using words like "improbable" rather than "urgent" and writing "I was feeling languid" instead of merely "I was tired." Sometimes this love of the "big word" rather than the simple one has its amusing side. One evening, for instance, Katayanagi-san said that he enjoyed "having intercourse" with me. When I looked a bit startled he referred to his dictionary and showed me that this meant "social communication," and it took some tactful and involved explanations on my part to inform him of the sexual connotations of the word.

'Imperial, Mac?'

Every so often, we do run into surprises. We find, for example, that few of the 10,000 cab drivers in Tokyo know any English beyond a simple "Sank you" when we pay the fare. Since we often use the lobby of the Imperial Hotel as a place to meet friends and acquaintances, one of the first Japanese phrases I memorized was "Teikoku Hoteru," meaning "Imperial Hotel." I was proud of myself at being able to give this as a destination and usually did not have to say it more than three or four times for the driver to understand. One day, though, when I used this formula, the driver turned around and with a real GI American accent said, "Yuh mean yuh wanna go to Imperial, Mac?" Laughter from my wife and a meek "yes" from me.

Don't Hurry It

For some reason the Japanese have the idea that their language is very easy and yet, when I discuss my problems in speaking it, they smile at me and say that I am in too much of a hurry; that I should figure on several years of study and practice before I can expect to become fluent. If I want to learn to read and write Japanese they estimate that it will take another several years. Actually, I do think that a year's concentration on the spoken tongue should provide me with a good working knowledge.

But reading and writing present more of a problem. In current use there are two separate and distinct syllabaries and by using these it is possible to write phonetically. Learning them would mean that I could write a form of Japanese that would be perfectly intelligible. But reading is a different matter since in addition to the syllabaries there are 1,850 Chinese characters, called kanji, and these must be memorized before one is able to read even a newspaper.

To read classical Japanese literature a scholar must learn many more kanji characters—up to twenty thousand of them! Easy indeed! The Japanese themselves take six years of schooling in order to learn to read and write.

Better Air Link Needed

HALIFAX (CP)—Canada should continue to press the United States government for regulations allowing direct flights by Canadian and U.S. airlines to link major cities of the two countries, vice-president W. Gordon Wood of Trans-Canada Air Lines said Wednesday.

Speaking to a Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities luncheon, he said the existing bilateral air agreement between the two countries frequently forced an inconvenient change of planes "relatively close" to the border.

IT'S CHEATING TO JAB HOLE IN SWISS CHEESE

WASHINGTON (AP)—People who like Swiss cheese like it with holes in it. Natural holes, that is. So what do you think of punching the holes in with machinery, to make them look like nature's own handiwork? It's cheating, the Federal Food and Drug Administration said today in announcing it has seized 2,700 pounds of Swiss cheese with phony holes.

City's Building Lagging Behind

Value of building permits issued in Victoria last month was less than half the total in the same month last year. The reason was fewer large projects such as Eaton's parking building, three large apartment blocks and a CPR addition started a year ago. There were 545 permits, eight of them for new construction, issued last month for a total value of $539,317, of which $189,300 was new. Big projects authorized in May were a $99,000 medical building at 1625 Oak Bay and a $13,000 nursing home addition on Cathedral Hill. To the end of May there have been 2,506 permits issued this year, with a value of $3,622,421, compared with 2,621 permits worth $4,035,666 in the first five months of last year. In May, 1960, there were 584 permits valued at $1,375,372.

'H.R.' Makes Light Of Bomb Incident

VANCOUVER (CP)—Timber tycoon H. R. MacMillan told a joke about Benjamin Franklin Thursday to describe how he felt when a fake dynamite bomb with a spluttering fuse crashed through a window of his house and landed 10 feet from him Wednesday night. "It wasn't so much a scare—it would be more correct to say that I was surprised and astonished," said the 75-year-old director and former honorary chairman of MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River Company. "You remember the story about Ben Franklin which explains the words 'surprise' and 'astonishment'?" "Franklin was in the kitchen with his arm around the cook when his wife walked in on them. "She took one look and said: 'Benjamin—I'm surprised!' "Franklin replied: 'No, my dear, I am the one who was surprised. You are astonished.' " NO EXPLANATION The reason for the scare remained unexplained. Police refused to comment on whether it might be connected with a recent dispute between top executives of the company, British Columbia's biggest forest firm, and said merely it was "obviously the work of someone with a real or imagined beef." The fake bomb, made of five round sticks covered with paper with the ends dipped in tar and an eight-inch fuse, was thrown through the window

He said in an interview he had difficulty enlisting because the force did not want Canadians. Raven said he never reached Cuba—returning to Florida after a day at sea.

WORKS MINISTER WALKER ... asks speed up

Too Many Slums Left Cities Told

HALIFAX (CP)—Federal Works Minister Walker Thursday criticized Canadian communities for lagging behind in slum clearance and for expecting too much financial aid from the central government. In a flying one-day visit to this 200-year-old seaport city, Mr. Walker hit hard at lagging municipal interest in cleaning up of blight areas and at too much municipal interest in the federal coffers. He held an hour-long press conference, addressed the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities and opened a giant low-renting housing project—Halifax's first step in slum clearance. The lanky works minister announced federal grants for the area, skimmed through the subjects of the Chignecto Canal and a causeway to Prince Edward Island and said his department was working "overtime" to find projects for hard-pressed coal miners on Cape Breton Island. SLUM REMOVAL SLOW He told some 700 municipal leaders that Canada was "not making nearly enough progress in getting rid of slums. Some of our towns and cities are not even doing a good job of stopping the spread of blight to other residential areas." As for more federal aid programs to municipalities, he felt this was not "desirable at this time." Under the terms of Confederation the federal government has no obligation to contribute financial aid to the municipalities, he said. It was a provincial matter. But despite this, the central government was chipping in $1,500,000,000 a year to aid provinces and municipalities. Mr. Walker officially opened the housing project.

Marchers Reach U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—Thirteen American ban-the-bomb marchers flew into London and made their first march on British soil in the pouring rain Thursday.

GOV'T HOUSING POLICY CRITICIZED BY MAYORS

HALIFAX (CP)—Housing and housing subsidies in the hands of government were criticized Thursday as delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities considered municipalities' housing needs and responsibilities. Mayor Christine Thomas of Oshawa, Ont., said allotment of federal housing subsidies should be taken from the hands of elected members of Parliament. Reeve N. C. Goodhead of North York, a suburb of Toronto, was critical of all levels of government. He said unnecessary delays in obtaining needed public housing are caused by "too many governments, too many authorities, too many plans. . . . The programs die of old age before they even get off the ground.

REPLY TO DIEFENBAKER

Pearson Tells How Liberals, CCFers Differ

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD
OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said today "there must be as little government interference as possible with the way in which all of us, as free men and women, decide to run our own lives." He added: "When government does participate it must be in order to give us a better chance to run those lives. "This is the Canadian way." The Liberal leader was commenting on the declaration some weeks ago by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker that, as a result of the leftist trend in the Liberal party, the issue in the next general election inevitably would be whether or not the Canadian people wanted to embrace Socialism. United Press International invited the Liberal leader to give his opinion on Diefenbaker's statement specifically. Mr. Pearson was asked to state his view of the difference which separated the Liberal party from the avowedly Socialist CCF-New Party.

No Doubt as to Liberal Position

The Liberal leader's reply: "In any consideration of free enterprise versus socialism there need be no doubt as to the position of the Liberal party. The record clearly shows where we stand. "In periods of Liberal government there was a steady march toward social security and greater human welfare. During those same periods, private enterprise flourished as never before—providing more and more jobs for workers and ever-improving living standards. "Canada, during these years, underwent vast and rapid changes. The Liberal party,

No 'Jungle Type' of Free Enterprise

"Whatever any other party may do, Liberalism will not revert to the jungle type of free enterprise where nature is where the tough and strong dominate and control, and the government merely keeps the ring clear. "I do not believe in this kind of free enterprise because I believe people must come first, their welfare and their hopes and their worries. Government exists only to serve them and to make it easier for them to work and develop and live good lives. I do not believe that government must stand helpless in the face of difficulties that prevent progress. "On the other hand, Liberalism rejects Socialism, with its veneration of the powerful state; with its veneration of bureaucracy telling us all what we should or should not do; with emphasis on occupational and class distinctions. "Liberalism slants, as always, between these two extremes. It must work to develop, as it has in the past, the conditions in which initiative can operate more productively and vigorously, more steadily and fairly, to serve the well-being of all the people. "The problems of the 1960's are in many ways more difficult than any that have gone before. The world is changing too fast for the conservative approach to be a useful guide. Nor, on the other hand, would there be any advantage of the Canadian people in the ill-judged upheavals advocated by minority and Socialist political parties which would hamper the growth of the productive expanding economy on which social progress and individual welfare depend."

BRAIN SURGEONS ACHIEVE 'DOUBLE'

Monkeys Do Two Things at Once

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Biologists at the California Institute of Technology have taught monkeys to do two things at the same time. An animal's left hand literally doesn't know what its right hand is doing.

Brain splitting would not help humans perform more complicated tasks at the same time, Sperry says, because the human brain is much more complex than a monkey's. One lobe of the human brain always learns more than the other and thus is the dominant lobe. The weaker lobe would not be able to perform comparable tasks.

Yarrows Working On Russian Deal

$1,000,000 Job On Automatic Mill

Yarrows Ltd. of Victoria and an Ontario firm are negotiating to build a huge automatic sawmill for shipment to Russia, cost of which has been estimated at over $4,000,000.

More than $1,000,000 worth of the work would be done at Yarrows Esquimalt plant.

Associated with Yarrows in the negotiations is the Preston Woodworking Machinery Co., Preston, Ont.

Delmar Struck, vice-president of the Ontario firm, said today that plans are "almost final."

He said negotiations have extended over the last two years and should be "complete in about 30 days."

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows, said assembly of what would be the world's largest automated sawmill would take place here.

STEEL WORK
"We would do the structural steel work and also build some of the component machinery," he said.

The latter would be built under licence to Klamath Falls Machinery and Locomotive Works, a California firm with which Yarrows has been associated for about 18 months.

Two Seattle firms refused sub-contracts on the mill because it is going to Russia. They were asked to supply six sorters, at about $150,000.

BUYING KNOW-HOW
President of one of the companies, Gordon B. Anderson of Puget Sound Fabricators, said Russia was trying to buy North American technical know-how "and we will have no part of handing this advantage to our sworn enemy."

"Regardless of what was said in Seattle, we are pressing ahead on this job," Mr. Wallace said. "We feel this export order would be most beneficial to Canadian secondary industry."

The automatic sawmill would be capable of producing 1,500,000 board feet of lumber daily.

Ocean Air Cools Out 'Heat Wave'

Victoria's two-day heat wave came to an end today as cool air from the Pacific Ocean stole up Juan de Fuca Strait and spread over the city and district.

Temperature was at least 10 degrees lower today than on Thursday, according to weatherman William Mackie.

At noon Thursday it was 73 degrees at Gonzales Observatory, and today at the same time it was only 62 degrees.

Despite the drop in temperature, the weather will continue to be pleasant, Mr. Mackie said.

"There will be a few cloud patches, but we expect mainly sunny weather into Saturday, with a maximum Saturday temperature of from 65 to 70 degrees."

Minimum tonight will be 50 degrees, he said, and winds will be southwesterly at 15 miles per hour.

Cool but mostly clear weather is expected to continue into Sunday.

NEW APPOINTMENTS for two senior officers in Canada's armed forces, both Victoria men, were announced at headquarters in Ottawa today. Lt.-Col. Ian M. Air Commodore R. L. Lane, DSO, DFC, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lane, 543 Dunedin, took over Thursday as air officer commanding the RCAF's air transport command.

PEDESTRIAN PROTECTION

17 Cities Win Safety Awards

Seventeen Canadian cities were honored here Thursday evening for their work in protecting the lives of pedestrians.

Victoria, competing for the first time among 96 entries, did not win an award. But Vancouver received a special citation for pedestrian program activities, and Trail, B.C., won first place in the contest for cities of 10,000-25,000 population.

Awards were announced at the 47th annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association by Rowley J. Hastings, president. The occasion was a dinner given to 105 delegates and wives by the B.C. government.

Mr. Hastings said the safety pedestrian contest was instituted by the Canadian AA in 1959. It was designed to bring an awareness of the pedestrian to city traffic and police officials.

A similar program in the United States had been credited with reduction in pedestrian fatalities and injuries.

Mr. Hastings commended Victoria on entering the contest for the first time.

In an interview, he said the fact the city did not win an award on its 1960 record might be that many local pedestrians are elderly and may not have been educated in road safety.

"I understand you have difficulty getting older persons to wear light colored clothing at night," he said.

THE WINNERS
Winning cities and their awards were:

Cities with over 200,000 population: First place, Hamilton; special citation for program activities, Vancouver; special citation for low pedestrian death rate, Calgary.

Cities with 50,000-200,000 population: First place, Saskatoon; second place, Windsor; honorable mention, Sudbury.

Cities with 25,000-50,000 population: First place, South St. Mary; second place, Lethbridge; third place, Peterborough; special citation for program improvement, St. Boniface.

Cities with 10,000-25,000 population: First place, Trail, B.C.; second place, St. John's; third place, Medicine Hat and Red Deer, Alta.; special citation for program improvement, Pembroke; special citation for pedestrian program activities, Barrie, Ont.

In judging submissions, many factors were taken into consideration, including pedestrian casualty records, safety council work, legislation and enforcement, traffic engineering, school safety and public education.

Quick Arrest Follows Theft

Oak Bay police arrested two burglary suspects early this morning minutes after a break-in at Uplands golf clubhouse.

Charged in court later with theft and breaking and entering and remanded for election were Sidney Alan Travers and Darcy Gagne, both of no fixed address.

Police said they were arrested after the Uplands Golf Club was found broken into at 4:35 a.m. and about $225 in cash missing.

Entry was apparently made through an unlocked basement door and the doors to a liquor cabinet, where the cash was kept, had been forced.

CARBON MONOXIDE WARNING FOR DRIVERS

New Poison Detector Praised

The accent was on "safety" at today's sessions of the Canadian Automobile Association holding a three-day conference at the Empress Hotel.

Rowley J. Hastings, president, urged the use of seat belts to reduce injury and death in auto accidents, and commended the use of a newly-invented small indicator to detect deadly carbon monoxide gas seeping into an automobile.

SAFETY BELTS
Mr. Hastings noted that many auto manufacturers will install safety seat belts in their 1962 models. He said the CAA has advocated use of this precaution for years past.

The carbon monoxide detector was on view at the conference today. Officials say it will sell for less than a dollar and can be rejuvenated time and again by exposure to fresh air.

SWEDISH
It is said to give an accurate warning since it contains a chemical substance that is sensitive to carbon monoxide only. It is a Swedish development.

"Carbon monoxide is a product of exhaust from the combustion chamber of the engine," a CAA official said. "It is tasteless and odorless and has long been blamed for accidents where a motorist has crashed for no apparent reason."

Irate Letters to Pour From New Machine

George I. Warren, better known as "Mr. Victoria," was honored Thursday night for more than 20 years' service as secretary-manager of Victoria Automobile Club.

Frank Mulliner, a past president and director, presented him with a typewriter in view of Mr. Warren's prolific letter-writing, said Mr. Mulliner, remembering his countless written awarded him a gold service pin.

The presentations were made at a dinner given by the B.C. government in connection with the 47th annual meeting of the Canadian Automobile Association at the Empress Hotel.

"We decided on a typewriter in view of Mr. Warren's prolific letter-writing," said Mr. Mulliner, remembering his countless written protests against the naming of Vancouver as capital of B.C., moving the Malahat to the mainland—and other "crimes."

He recalled that Mr. Warren was for many years manager of the Auto-Club, Victoria Chamber of Commerce and the Tourist Bureau all at the same time.

Mr. Warren said the typewriter was appropriate since he was once a stenographer and could still use it.

DURING QUAKE
"I was actually pounding a typewriter in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake in 1906."

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood added his congratulations on behalf of the B.C. government.

"No man in this city has done more for Victoria and the Island," he declared.

First Aid First for Future Nurses

A number of Oak Bay Senior High School girls have become what are believed to be the first in B.C. to have completed a St. John Ambulance course and a program of actual hospital work.

Eighteen members of the school's Future Nurses Club spent four months on a St. John Ambulance Association course in home nursing, taught by Mrs. J. Bridges, public health nurse with the Oak Bay health department.

On its completion 15 of the girls went on to the Veterans' Hospital for 44 hours of planned hospital experience.

This morning, at a school assembly, girls seen in the accompanying picture received their nursing certificates from Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, St. John Ambulance Corps superintendent, and Miss Ruth Cowper, matron at the Veterans' Hospital.

Congratulations from the Victoria Chapter Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., sponsor of the club, were extended by Miss Elizabeth M. Moore, assistant director of nursing (education) at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Monte Roberts

As one little statistic to another, tell me honestly, now (and in strictest secrecy), have you taken leave of your census yet?

My census left me yesterday, and left me rather disappointed.

I had a lovely answer ready for the question: "What is your relationship to the head of the house?" and didn't get a chance to give it.

The answer (as anyone who knows our house could anticipate) was: My relationship with the head of the house is reasonably good as long as I feed her at regular intervals, don't take up too much space in the bed, leave the door open for ready access to the outdoors, and keep strangers out of the house.

However, my relationship with the head of the house deteriorated badly when my census was being taken leave of, because the census taker refused to count the head of the house, namely the small female-type cat Little Miss Muffet.

(My relationship with the No. 2 head of the house, My Favorite Wife, is dandy at all times. I attribute this to the power-of-mind-over-matter.)

I understand a few people are objecting to the question: "Did you work at all last week?"

I can't go along with THIS one because I have a better one.

I object to working. Mind you, I haven't thought this objection to work to the degree achieved by a certain gentleman who turned up on Tuesday to start his work week.

Asked why he wasn't on hand on Monday, he explained he was operating on Daylate Saying Time.

My biggest disappointment, though, when my census were being taken away, was when I had to admit I didn't speak French.

I would have dearly loved to answer: "Lien avec le chef du menage?"

The reason being, I seem to manage to be the chef around here, lien avec or no lien avec.

But seriously, fellow statistic, don't you feel better now you know you will appear in the next Dominion Bureau of Statistics report?

I hope we will meet there, and in case you are looking for me, I'll be the second digit five zeros removed from the decimal point.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at the Monterey Restaurant parking lot for an expedition to Whiffen Spit, Sooke. A. H. Marjion, chairman of the geology section, will lead the party.

Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Knights-of-Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

The preliminary hearing into an attempted murder charge laid against a Saanich juvenile was adjourned in Saanich police court Thursday for further argument June 20.

The alleged offence occurred in January when a young Saanich girl spent nine days in hospital with injuries to her head and abdomen.

Newest addition to Saanich fire department, a $14,500 Cadillac ambulance sporting 325-horsepower and extensive rescue equipment, will be on display Saturday afternoon outside the Sea View Plaza at Cordova Bay.

The ambulance, which has not yet gone into service because of the necessity of training the crews, will be demonstrated by a two-man team under assistant fire chief Tom Moss, starting at 2 p.m.

Music by the school band and a home economics dress display will be featured at a meeting of the Central Junior High School PTA Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym.

Contributions to the piper fund can be sent to the secretary of the Tourist Industry Group, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, 816 Wharf Street.

Visitors to Victoria will be piped in by a piper in full Highland dress as usual this year, but native Victorians will have to dig into their sporrans to pay the canny young lady's wages.

There's no long weekend this year for the Dominion Day holiday.

In fact, for those who usually get Saturday off, it won't be an extra holiday at all.

Dominion Day, July 1, falls on a Saturday, and the federal "Dominion Day Act" states that only when it falls on Sunday can the holiday be changed.

More than 150 pictures will be offered for rent at the Art Gallery Monday, at special rate of three months for the price of two.

It will be the last "loan night" of the season, and pictures may be retained until September.

Viewing time at the gallery is from 7:30 to 8 p.m.

Matson Sunset Lodge Building Fund will be increased by $162, thanks to a spring tea held recently by the Ex-Service Women's Branch No. 182 of the Canadian Legion in the Hudson's Bay-Douglas-Room. The money will be presented to Mrs. Brig. C. J. Milley by the convener, Mrs. Hilda Murphy, and club president, Miss Betty Kerr.

Lt.-Cmdr. D. J. Hamilton was re-elected president of Monterey PTA at the annual meeting, which also elected Mr. W. Paul vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Wilmont, secretary; Mrs. W. Rachford, treasurer; Mrs. G. Spafford, membership; J. Davey, program; Mrs. H. L. Hamesley, publicity; Mrs. K. R. McLeod, fine arts and publications; Mrs. B. N. Inglis and Mrs. M. Barslow, social, and Mrs. J. E. Schenkein, hospitality.

Final meeting of the season for Victoria Musical Art Society Studio Group will take place tonight at the home of D. Boyce Gaddes, 134½ Victoria Avenue at 8.

Miss Margaret Abbott will be the evening's special guest vocalist and the Madrigal Singers will also perform.

Mr. Gaddes, Rodney Webster, Miss Margery Vaughan and Miss Daphne Osborn will play original compositions.

Branch No. 5 of the Old Age Pensioners' Organization will hold a general meeting next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Naval Veterans' Hall.

The office, to be known as "B.C. House" will be next door to a new federal government office to be opened soon, said Mr. Bonner.

"There will be a fairly elaborate formal opening in the latter part of July or early August," said Mr. Bonner.

Former agriculture minister Newton P. Steacy has been appointed commissioner for the new office.

Fraud Admitted In Freezer Deal
A city man pleaded guilty to false pretences in city police court today and was remanded to June 9 for probation report and sentence.

Wilfred E. Still, 1350 Gladstone, was accused of obtaining $100 from Maynard's & Sons Auctioneers and Appraisers April 29 as an advance payment for sale of a freezer, an oil stove and a dryer.

The court was told that when the goods were handed over there was a lien of over $500 held by Industrial Acceptance Corporation.

Anthem Sung At Funeral Of Chorister
Centennial United Church sang the anthem "Souls of the Righteous" at funeral services for Mrs. Margaret S. Williams at McCall Bros. funeral parlor Thursday afternoon.

The anthem was sung in honor of Mrs. Williams' 35 years as a member of the choir. Her friend, Mrs. Margaret Wilmhurst, was at the organ and the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. S. J. Parsons.

Mrs. Williams died suddenly in Royal Jubilee Hospital last Monday in her 79th year. Her husband, W. Cadogan Williams, predeceased her 12 years ago. He was a long-time employee of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Victoria.

HERE 40 YEARS
Born at Clifnydd, South Wales, Mrs. Williams came to Canada 45 years ago and had lived here 40 years. She was a member of Victoria Welsh Society and St. Luke's 60 Up Club.

She leaves a brother, J. C. Williams of Victoria; and four nieces, Mrs. W. G. (Phyllis) Hill; Mrs. Miriam Prior; and Mrs. F. E. (Lillian) Easton, all of Victoria; Mrs. V. R. Neill of Lumby, B.C., and one nephew, Idris Davies of Edmonton, Alta.

$750 a Month For Main Street Tourist Office
The B.C. government has rented ground-floor space on a main San Francisco street at $750 a month for its new trade and tourist promotion office.

Trade Minister Robert Bonner will visit San Francisco next week to attend to details.

These include signing a five-year lease with Balboa Building syndicate for renting the office space at Market St. and 2nd Ave.

The office, to be known as "B.C. House" will be next door to a new federal government office to be opened soon, said Mr. Bonner.

"There will be a fairly elaborate formal opening in the latter part of July or early August," said Mr. Bonner.

Former agriculture minister Newton P. Steacy has been appointed commissioner for the new office.

Big Day Sunday For Cadets
Navy, army and air force cadets will be out in full force Sunday for the annual drum-head service and sports day sponsored by the United Cadet Services Committee.

The service will start at 11 a.m. at Victoria High School, followed by field sports beginning at 1 p.m.

The cadets will assemble at Memorial Arena, and parade to the school, stepping off at 10:20 a.m.

Parade route will be: Blanchard to Flagg, Flagg to Douglas, Douglas to Yates, Yates to Quadra, Quadra to Pandora, Pandora to Cook, Cook to Balmoral, Balmoral to Chambers, Chambers to Grant, then to the school.

Salute will be taken by Air Commodore G. G. Truscott, Commander, 5 air division headquarters, and deputy commander, Maritime Command, Pacific.

Taking part in the parade will be HMCS Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps; Admiral Rayner Navy League Cadets; Navy League Wrenettes; 89 Kinsmen Air Cadet Squadron and Kadettes; Canadian Scottish Army Cadets; Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry army cadets, and RCEME cadets.

40th Death Penalty Commuted

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet this afternoon commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence against David Norman Brenner, 20, for the street-fight slaying in Kitchener of Carl Ludwig, 28, Dec. 2, 1960. Brenner was to have been hanged next Tuesday.

The commutation brings to 40 the cabinet has made since the Conservative government took office in 1957. Ten persons have been hanged.

JFK-DE GAULLE STATEMENT

West to Stand
Fast on Rights
In West Berlin

(CP From AP-Reuters)

PARIS — President Kennedy and President de Gaulle today ended their three-day talks with a communique confirming agreement on their obligations and responsibilities toward West Berlin.

The joint statement, issued on the eve of President Kennedy's departure for Vienna and a meeting with Premier Khrushchev, told of a basic agreement between the two Western statesmen.

The U.S. and French leaders issued their communique shortly after they had held their last conference in three days of talks.

"These conversations have shown the basic agreement which exists between the two presidents," said the statement.

"In particular, Gen. de Gaulle and President Kennedy have confirmed the identity of their views on their obligations and responsibilities as concerns Berlin."

The status of Berlin is among the problems Kennedy is expected to discuss with Khrushchev Saturday and Sunday.

Speaking to reporters before issuance of the communique, Kennedy said he and the French leader had agreed that the Western powers' rights in West Berlin must not be modified by force or the threat of force.

The president declared it must be made clear—presumably he meant made clear to Khrushchev—that "we are determined" to resist aggression with whatever force might be necessary.

TO PAY BIG SHARE

Canada Boosts
Help for India

OTTAWA (CP)—The sum of $225,000,000 has been pledged to India for economic development over the next two years by six nations including Canada plus the World Bank.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker told the Commons today of the agreement in which the United States bears the lion's share. The World Bank, the United Kingdom and West Germany are other major contributors, followed by Japan, Canada and France.

The announcement followed a three-day meeting at Washington of a consortium of governments and institutions interested in developing more Indian assistance. Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement.

"These large commitments should enable India to launch her third five-year plan of economic development," he said.

Canada's share is $56,000,000—$28,000,000 in the current fiscal year and the same amount next year. Each allotment would comprise $18,000,000 paid through the Colombo plan and the other $10,000,000 in the form of export credits. Canada would also provide $7,000,000 worth of wheat, over and above the two-year aid program.

Canada's contribution of $56,000,000 compares with $1,045,000,000 from the U.S., $425,000,000 from Germany, $400,000,000 from the World Bank, $250,000,000 from the U.K., $80,000,000 from Japan and $30,000,000 from France.

"The five-year plan, approved in New Delhi today, envisages an annual increase in national income of from 5 to 6 per cent, new industries and free compulsory education between the ages of six and 14."

INGEMAR SICK

'Monopoly'
Hit by Tunney

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gene Tunney contended today Ingemar Johansson, the Swedish boxer, "was a sick man" suffering from a brain trauma when he lost to heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in their third bout this year.

Tunney told the senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee "the monopoly" wouldn't stand for an electronic examination which he said would have shown Johansson not physically fit for the bout.

Tunney did not specify whom he meant by "the monopoly."

Tunney, a former holder of the heavyweight crown, recalled the three bouts in which Johansson first won the title from Patterson, then lost in two return matches with the champion.

He said Johansson "had a very serious brain trauma" resulting from his knockout in the second bout.

In New York, Al Boian, who was general manager of Feature Sports Inc., which promoted the third Johansson-Patterson fight in Miami Beach in March, said Johansson was given a complete physical examination by the Miami Beach boxing commission.

8,000 Vienna
Police on Guard

VIENNA (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev arrived here today for his weekend meeting with President Kennedy and said Russia was striving for better relations with the United States on a basis of "peace and positive co-operation."

Khrushchev stepped off a train from Czechoslovakia and was greeted by Austrian President Adolf Schaerf. The station was packed with uniformed police and 20 plainclothesmen surrounded the Russian leader.

Khrushchev spoke briefly to former Soviet foreign minister Vyacheslav Molotov, who was bitterly denounced and downgraded by Khrushchev four years ago as an enemy of Soviet progress.

Khrushchev said that he realized all East-West problems could not be settled at once.

"But with goodwill much can be achieved even in a short time," he said.

The youthful American president is flying in Saturday morning fresh from his Paris talks with French President Charles de Gaulle.

The Austrians arranged the biggest security precautions in their history to safeguard both men. More than 8,000 police, detectives and gendarmes were taking up their posts for the two arrivals and the K-K talks Saturday and Sunday.

Major Security Measures

Khrushchev's rail trip here from Communist Czechoslovakia involved three major security measures:

1. An Austrian police helicopter hovering low over his special train and in constant radio contact with the ground.

2. A special locomotive, packed with armed security men, running ahead of Khrushchev's train on its 30-mile trip from the frontier village of Marchegg to Vienna's southeast station.

3. Armed police guarding the rail line and posted about 270 yards apart, with the helicopter in constant contact with their command post.

Meanwhile, preparations were almost complete for the face-to-face "get-acquainted" session of the "two Ks."

Many observers said gloomily that little of lasting value would emerge from their 10 hours of talks — actually over five hours if the time for translations is deducted.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

'Repressions'
Bring Fighting

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, D.R. (UPI)—The government announced today it had killed one of the men who assassinated Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo and captured three others.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today it has unconfirmed reports of "extreme measures of unwarranted repression" and some fighting in the Dominican Republic.

Press officer Lincoln White declined to give details. "We are seriously concerned about these reports, but we are awaiting further confirmation," he said.

The repression, he said, is reported to have been directed "against anyone who is felt to be not loyal to the regime" of the Trujillo group, which has continued in power following Tuesday's assassination of dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The U.S. spokesman said there were "no reports of any molestation . . . up to this point" of the 5,200 Americans in the Caribbean land.

But he left open the possibility that U.S. armed forces could move in to protect American lives "should this situation erupt."

Britain Still Undecided

LONDON (CP)—The assembly of the Western European Union wound up its meetings here Thursday with Britain still undecided about joining the European common market.

The most the assembly could do was to agree to ask the WEU council of ministers to open talks with the hope of bringing Britain into the six-country market.

BRAIN SURGEONS ACHIEVE 'DOUBLE'

Monkeys Do Two Things at Once

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Biologists at the California Institute of Technology have taught monkeys to do two things at the same time. An animal's left hand literally doesn't know what its right hand is doing.

It's done by cutting the brain in halves, in effect giving a monkey two brains.

Each brain operates independently of the other. The monkey performs even contradictory tasks simultaneously in their small training boxes.

Dr. Roger Sperry, professor of psychobiology who developed the surgical technique of severing the brain lobes, explained in an interview how the box works:

The monkey can see out only through a pair of peep holes. His left eye and left brain are taught that if he presses a lever marked with a circle he gets a peanut. If he presses a lever marked with a triangle he gets nothing.

At the same time, his right eye and right brain are taught just the opposite.

The study so far, Sperry says, suggests that memory, thinking and consciousness may be split and that two distinct personalities may be developed in a double-brain monkey.

Brain splitting would not help humans perform more complicated tasks at the same time, Sperry says, because the human brain is much more complex than a monkey's. One lobe of the human brain always learns more than the other and thus is the dominant lobe. The weaker lobe would not be able to perform comparable tasks.

The present agreement, negotiated during a 10-week strike two years ago, expires June 14. The strike resulted in a 20-cent increase in the hourly wage over the two-year contract period.

The settlement announcement Thursday came in the early stages of informal conciliation. It was the first time in a decade that agreement had been reached in the industry before conciliation machinery had been exhausted and a strike-vote called.

Teacher Shortage Facing Cowichan

DUNCAN — A shortage of physical education and commerce teachers and counsellors is looming for Cowichan School District 65 in September, superintendent A. D. Jones has reported to the board of trustees. Elementary school requirements are easier to meet, he said, because of the greater number of elementary teachers being graduated each year.

DUNCAN—The 4,000-member Local 180, International Woodworkers of America, will hold a membership meeting here Sunday to name delegates to conferences of the union's Western Canadian Regional Council No. 1 and to its safety conference.

DUNCAN—Sum of $3,743 has been donated in the annual Conquer Cancer Fund canvass here, according to B. W. W. Cocks, chairman. Objective is $4,000.

SIDNEY—Officers elected this week at the annual meeting of Sidney Kinsmen Club were John Forge, president; Gerry Flint, vice-president; Alex Porteous, secretary; John Kennaird, treasurer; and Jack Sykes, registrar.

New 51-foot fisheries patrol vessel Pillar Rock was launched this week in Vancouver and will operate in northern B.C. waters.

It was designed by William Reid of Vancouver with lines similar to those of west coast halibut boats. It will cruise at 10 to 11 knots, will have a crew of three, and accommodation for a fisheries officer.

FURTHER STEP FOR COLUMBIA

Another small legal step toward the development of Columbia River power was taken today by lifting of Crown reserves on the river's unlicensed waters.

A cabinet order abolishing the reserves clears the way for the B.C. Power Commission to apply for provincial licences to build the three dams which are specified in the Canada-U.S. treaty for development of the mighty hydro power scheme.

Another order passed earlier in the week gave the power commission authority to make its applications, expected about June 15.

IN CONGO

Women, Children Murdered

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters) —The United Nations today began an emergency relief program for thousands of Congolese refugees in Kivu following mass killings by bands of armed soldiers.

A Malayan UN patrol sent to investigate the situation reported finding 33 bodies in a village south of Bukavu.

More than 100 persons, believed to include women and children, have been slaughtered recently. The bodies of five Congolese soldiers also were found.

A large area had been devastated and burned and thousands of members of the Bashi tribe have fled to the mountains, the Malaysians reported.

Cause of the violence in Kivu province, which is nominally controlled by the supporters of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba in Stanleyville, still was not clear. But it was believed here to be a combination of tribal conflicts and indiscipline on the part of the soldiers.
